Inkless Biometric Identification System

Save Time and Leave the Mess Behind

Easy, Inkless System Delivers Superior Prints - Recommended by the FBI

For the highest quality biometric prints available, forget messy, time-consuming ink methods. The Identifier™ system from Nekoosa is clean and easy thanks to proprietary technology that produces permanent images without ink. A soft impression is all that's needed to eliminate the smudged imprints so common with old-fashioned ink systems.

The simple, two-step process yields consistently high-quality prints ideal for scanning. Just clean a baby's foot, moisten it with an Identifier towelette, and press it to an identification form. The special coating on the form produces a crisp, permanent image almost immediately while the baby's foot stays clean and dry. Parents' prints can be added easily using the same process.

The FBI recommends footprinting newborns and has authorized Identifier as a superior biometric identification system based on an evaluation by its fingerprint instructors. No wonder more than 150 hospitals use Identifier every day for standard or custom birth certificates and announcements.

The image shows a sample of the Identifier Newborn Identification form. It includes fields for hospital name, mother's name, father's name, date, and time. There are two large rectangular areas for footprint impressions, each with a small circular inset for a fingerprint. The form also contains a section for hospital information and a signature line. The Nekoosa logo is visible in the top right corner of the form.
